*Presented by Approved Trainers of the I.P.L.T.R.
(Institute of Past Life Training & Research)*

Friday, 21st March, 2014 (6 p.m. - 11 p.m.) &
Saturday, 22nd March, 2014 (9 a.m. - 5 p.m.)
at the Marino Institute of Education,
Griffith Avenue, Dublin 9.

Is there a future in the past? Why explore past life regression and transpersonal therapy?

In the changing paradigm of our time, there is a thrust towards extended consciousness and experience of the transpersonal (the non-physical). Even minimal efforts to push back the barriers of perception makes possible dramatic new insights which can greatly benefit both our clients and ourselves as therapists.

Past life regression therapy is an innovative and effective approach to help clients with difficult and perplexing problems. Through group interaction and participation, this workshop can help widen the scope of your expertise and knowledge. Regression therapy is based on the premise that understanding the past can and does help to clarify the present and build upon the future. The wisdom of the ancient tool of hypnosis can be utilised to help clients to experience, re-live, own, understand, dispel, integrate or transmute the cognitive, emotional and psycho-energetic fields involved.

Experience the scope and benefits of past life regression and transpersonal therapy for yourself – through practical demonstrations, group interaction and hands-on practice on this experiential training weekend.

Just some of the topics covered this weekend are:

- Advanced regression techniques – direct focus to core issue, verbal chains, emotional and somatic bridges.
- Advanced transpersonal techniques – energy exchange, aura exploration, higher self and life purpose.
- Energy attachments – how to distinguish and deal with entities, past personalities and intruders.

This training course is recommended for those who wish to explore a down-to-earth approach that includes the most physical and most spiritual dimension of our being. A lack of belief in the existence of 'past lives' or reincarnation does not preclude a person from using this approach as it can equally be seen as a powerful metaphorical way of working.
